Re: 60% of New Cases transmitted by Asymptomatic people. Remain Vigilant - Continue Wearing Masks!

As you have heard through the news and assorted announcements made by Governor Cuomo and Mayor De Blasio, it has been reported by the CDC, that 60% of new cases have been transmitted by people without symptoms – this includes people who may be pre-symptomatic or never show any signs of the virus. The CDC study shows why it’s important for everyone to behave as if they could transmit the virus whether they are sick or not. This coupled with concerns over the introduction of the UK strain on American soil, following over 30 other countries, it is imperative that we all continue to remain vigilant.

To help promote everyone’s continued wellbeing and safety, it is extremely important that all continue to follow the guidelines implemented during the first surge of this virus. If all New Yorkers, work together once again, we can beat back this resurgence, as we did before!

We must all remain committed to using the tools at our disposal and follow all COVID-19 health related safety protocols – including social distancing and the use of a facemask or covering.

Please work with us to protect you, your families, neighbors, and friends by continuing to wear masks when walking about the building lobby, elevator, and common areas. We cannot stress how important this is!

Stay on Task, Wear Your Mask!
